

Chinese Alzheimer 's Disease Forum May 20 Bay Area

April 26, 2017

The Alzheimer's Association announced that the 11th Chinese Alzheimer's Disease Forum will be held on May 20 at the Intel Conference Hall in San Jac style. The forum is the nation's largest Chinese phisperta meeting, which is available to people interested in dementia, health professionals and families affected by Alzheimer's disease and related dementia. This year's forum theme and lecturer: "create a good memory", by the family caregiver Han Chaoying share. "To understand Alzheimer's disease and related dementia", please speak to On Lok Lifeways (Jade Clinic) physician Liu Dandan. "Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction" by the UCSF Medical School Clinical Assistant Professor, California Health Research Institute co-founder Dr. Tong Huiqi speaker. "Effective communication strategy - the need for different stages of dementia" by the Alzheimer's Association Chinese community education promotion manager Dr. Ou Xiaorong speaker.

One of the lecturers this year, Han Chaoying, is a family caregiver who will share her story of taking care of her father. Experts in the field of dementia will share information about Alzheimer's disease, research progress, care, communication skills, and disease management. More than 20 units will participate in the on-site resource display. This is a free meeting, welcome to the public to participate. Contact: Zhang Peining 408-372-9943, pchang@alz.org. (Newspaper reporter Wang Qingwei San Jose reported)

<http://bit.ly/2oPUDEP>